Preserving your Family Heirlooms & Scrapbooking - Family Wedding

On the 28th September, we held another Workshop with Lisa Mansell, although lightly attended those that did had a wonderful time learning about Preserving Family Heirlooms and creating a beautiful Wedding Scrapbook Page. Lisa will be back on the 23rd November for her last Workshop, a Christmas one, very timely as Christmas is nearly upon us. The handouts for the previous two workshops are available at the DHGRC.

Family Christmas Scrapbooking & Cards

Date: Sunday 23rd November 2014

Time: 1.00pm - 4.00 pm

Cost: $15

The Workshop will be hosted by Lisa Mansell and designed to add to your Christmas Cheer as you make either Cards or Scrapbook Page.

Everything will be supplied, all you will need to bring is a photo.

You will take home either a Scrapbook page (double layout for at least four 6"x4" photos) or 3 simple but stunning Christmas Cards.

Trestle Trolley & Display Cases

Philip Brow, a member of the DHG and his son, David, have made us a great Trestle Trolley to move and store our trestle on at the DHGRC.

We have also bought some Display Cases from IKEA which Ian Telfer, our President had the joy of putting together!

The Dublin History Group Research Centre will be closed over January but we still have some exciting things happening until 14th December our last Open Day.

Preserving Family Photos and Scrapbooking

Great afternoon on the 24th August. The ladies had a delightful time creating either a Scrapbook Page or Photo Frame Insert and learning about taking care of their photos. Lisa Mansell will be back again on the 28th September to do a Wedding Themed Workshop - so please book.

We just received this email: Hi Dublin History Group

It is with great pleasure that I advise that you were one of the winners of a 12 month membership of AFFHO for your participation in NFHM. Congratulations and I hope you enjoy your membership.

Thanks Shauna - Shauna Hicks History Enterprises

AFFHO is the The Australasian Federation of Family History Organisations Inc. and was established in 1978 to coordinate and assist the work of Australian and New Zealand groups with interests in family history, genealogy, heraldry and related subjects. Exciting new resource for the Dublin History Group

Saluting our WW1 Soldiers

9th November @ the Dublin Institute, Memorial Trees will be planted. The tree positions have been marked out in consultation the Mallala Council's Horticultural Services Officer, Pam Drew the trees chosen Cupaniopsis anacardioides (Tuckeroo) and ordered and the plaques are being engraved.

Family members are contacting us to be involved with the ceremony So full steam ahead.

As someone said the other day, he had been coming to the Dublin Institute for as long as he could remember and this will be one of the most significant changes he has seen and was really looking forward to it, one of his family will be remembered so it is especially important to him.

Schlodder Shelter Tiles

Well the Tile Day on the 10th August was a great deal of fun, lovely tiles were created. The old Schlodder Shelter has been pulled down and the bigger metal one with new seating and the lovely stone wall should be on it's way. Great place to enjoy those yummy Sausage Sizzles or a break from the long drive.

Action on the Home Front

The DHGRC had a wonderfully busy day on the 25th May when, as part of the About Time History Celebration, we had a display and talk on the Fighting Forces Comfort Fund, (FFCF).

Gwen Smith spoke about the Wild Horse Plains Fighting Forces Comfort Fund in which her family were involved, also, her fathers involvement in the Volunteer Defence Corp. It was a really interesting and touching account of the times.

The Dublin History Group had some of the Wild Horse Plains FFCF Books that had been donated in poor condition so, through the Community Partnerships Grant from Mallala Council, they were cleaned by ARTLAB and some were put on display. The display is still up so if you would like to come and have a look - pop in on one of our Open Days.

Remembering our fallen in 2014

Don't forget the 9th November, our preparations are in full swing but we still need are photos of our soldiers from World War One, whether they fell or returned home to their loved ones, please share them with us. The DHG have a list up on our website and at the DHGRC of the names of our soldiers.

Schlodder Shelter Tiles

The Dublin History Group are running a workshop for everyone to be involved with the upgrade of the Schlodder Shelter in Dublin by decorating a tile which will be included on the wall. So come along with your $15 on 10th August to the Dublin Institute

Preserving those photos

Come along on the 24th August to a workshop that is being run as part of National Family History Month to learn a little more about looking after and displaying your precious family photos. Look for the advert in this Dublin Dispatch

Digitisation Workshop with History SA

On 12th March some DHG Members went to a workshop held by History SA in the Adelaide Institute. If that building alone wasn't enough, the talk, the many handouts and the tour of ARTLAB were amazing. Here are some brief points we learnt at the workshop

Storing Images:

- Files should be stored in TIFF format uncompressed, 24-bit RGB colour and minimum 300 dpi
- File naming should be consistent, use same format for each file, up to 31 characters
eg: surname_first_date_place
- Scan your original as it is, make a copy and work with that to improve or repair and save as copy
- Storage system should be large enough and have a back up and if possible stored offsite
- Regular migration and refreshing of all master copies

Donation by ANDFHG

We have a wonderful selection of over 150 back issues of Family Research Magazines — Ancestors, Australian Family Tree Connections, Family History Monthly, Family Tree Magazine, Practical Family History and Your Family History donated to us by ANDFHG. When I was sorting them out I kept finding myself catching a headline and having a bit of a read, slowed the sorting process somewhat. So next time you come in for our Family Research Day, have a look yourself. I am sure you will do the same thing.

Family Research with ANDFHG and Peter Applebee

We have had two great Family History Days, in March and April.

On the 9th March some lovely members from ANDFHG did some “one on one” research with those who attended. More wonderful family information was unearthed.

On the 13th April, Peter Applebee gave a great talk about researching for your Pioneer ancestors in Australia prior to 1840. Interesting tools to use and great facts about South Australia in the early days learnt. He also took us through a tour of the Duryea Panorama of Adelaide 1863. A website featuring a circular, bird's eye view of Adelaide in late 1865, comprising 14 photographs taken from the scaffolding on the (then) newly completed Adelaide Town Hall tower, by photographer Townsend Duryea. The Panorama is currently displayed at the History SA's new Exhibition Gallery, Torrens Parade Ground.

Family Research at the DHGRC

Well we had our first Family Research Day on the 9th February, Kevin Hammond came along, so we had a lovely chat and he showed us his research, really nicely presented information. Then we did some researching on the internet. An enjoyable afternoon.

As you can see by our Open Days we have some fun stuff coming up, the Adelaide Northern Districts Family History Group will be with us on the 9th March. This group are great to work with they get you inspired and are wonderful assistance with your research.

On the 13th April Michelle Scragg from Heritage Scrapbooking was suppose to be coming but unfortunately she had to postpone for a later date. So Peter Applebee will be doing a talk on Researching Pioneer Families "Pre 1840". See flyer to the left for further information. Please come along to the 2nd Sunday of the Month and research your family tree.

Remembering our fallen in 2014

We have a date for our Tree Planting, the 9th of November, 2014. we are all very excited about this, we have been given permission from the Army to use the Rising Sun Badge so the 22 plaques will be very special. What we are in need of photos of our soldiers from World War One, whether they fell or returned home to their loved ones, please share them with us. The DHG will put a list up on our website and at the DHGRC of the names of the soldiers we have, there are few we are not sure of, so have a look and see if you can assist us. There is one in particular the only lady, Dorothy Emily BAKER Staff Nurse any information or photos of Dorothy would be gratefully accepted.

What's happening in 2014

There will be a slight change to our Open Days in 2014, on the 2nd Sunday of each month we will be having Family History Day, the main emphasis will be doing research on your family using our information and the internet. So if you are a family researcher come along and dedicate one afternoon a month to research. Also on some of these Sundays our friends at the Adelaide Northern Districts Family History Group (ANDFHG) will join us.

Every now and then we will have short talks and displays to assist with your research and presentation of that research. On the 13th April we have Michelle Scragg from Heritage Scrapbook giving us a talk and display, she designs beautiful papers which are perfect to display your family photos on.

These event do not stop anyone popping in to have a look at the Research Centre and seeing what we have and checking out our latest projects.

Market in March

The State Elections are taking over the Dublin Institute on the weekend we would have our market we have to push it back a week to the 25th March, so have decided to call it our Belated St Patrick's Day Market. So come along and buy some goodies or even have a stall, inside will cost you $15.00 a trestle or sell some of your treasures outside for $5.00 a site. Look for more info on our site, our Facebook page and in the Dublin Dispatch

Remembering our fallen in 2014

As we head towards the Anniversary of the Gallipoli Landing in 2015, the Dublin History Group are holding events to Commemorate this significant moment in Australian history. Trees will be planted in memory of the World War One fallen soldiers from the Honours Rolls of the Hundred of Dublin and Lower Light. These will be planted along the border of the Dublin Institute by family members of the soldiers and a plaque will be put at the foot of the tree similar to the ones we did at the Dublin Cemetery. We are researching at the moment to get as much information and photos of our fallen and the ones that returned as we can. So if you could assist us it would be welcome. Another event is on May 25th as part of SA History Month we will do a display about Fight Forces Comfort Funds in particular items we have in our collection. More information to come.

Our New Sign

On Tuesday the 3rd of September the Dublin History Group Research Centre sign went up, thanks to Philip Brow and Ian Telfer proudly holding the sign, who had the joy of digging the holes with a spade, and you know how much fun that is around here, Max Jaeger from Original Signs, for making our signs and the District Council of Mallala and Department of Environment, Water and Natural Resources—Heritage for approving it. We had a new open sign done in the same design as the big one, so look out for it on our Open Days

Pretty Flowers

On Sunday 15th September a lovely little workshop was held making paper flowers that could be used for paper craft projects, Lisa Mansell, Kaszazz Consultant is instructing Marie Connelly one of the participants in the techniques. Eight delightful flowers were created, this workshop maybe repeated next year so watch out in the events list.

Afternoon of Fun & Food

Researching First World War Ancestor and Research Afternoon

On the 11th August as part of National Family History Month, I hosted a workshop about researching military ancestors, referencing the Australian War Memorial and the National Archives of Australia, 11 people came to share in the afternoon. After a presentation we went onto the computers armed with confidence. Bev Jones was a star pupil, she was searching through the NAA discovering all sorts of interesting facts about her military family. As part of my research for the workshop I used one of Gould Genealogy's books That Elusive Digger: Tracing Your Australian Military Ancestors but I went to www.gen-ebooks.com and downloaded it. Easy, fast and efficient and got a free e-book as well, very happy :)

Had a great afternoon on the 25th August with the ANDFHG as the second part of our National Family History Month, 7 people came to delve into their family trees and came away with some great information. Thanks you so much to our ANDFHG Researchers who have given up their Sunday afternoons to help us out, we hope to have you come back in 2014

Schlodder Shelter Project

On the 22nd September the DHG are hosting a Chef's Toolbox Master Class, to raise money to make the Schlodder Shelter more weatherproof and remembering the Emergency Services that used to be on that site. So please come along for $15 you will have a fun afternoon, something to eat, learn a thing or two and help with the project

Genealogy and the Dublin History Group Collection

We have had some great talks recently, Richard Sullivan from Genealogy SA, who started with the basics of researching your Family Tree and then onto the resources Genealogy SA have, which are extensive.

Peter Applebee on the Australian Cemeteries website and how to use it to research your family. and there is a wealth of knowledge on it.

Have A Go Research Afternoon on the 23rd June, when you can come along to the Research Centre and with the assistance of members from The Adelaide Northern Districts Family History Group go through our collection or go on line to see what is out there, great fun, you never know what you might discover.

Gould Genealogy are coming in the evening of the 16th July to show us what wonderful resources Gould Genealogy have, great stuff

Below is a list of Family Names the DHG has folders on, the amount of information and photos vary but they could be an interesting read. We would also love to add to these or even add new names if you would like your local family history to our collection

Photos of War Graves

While doing research for the DHG, I was asked to obtain some photos of a gravestone or plaque for a World War 1 soldier from the Commonwealth War Graves Commission website

<http://www.cwgc.org/>

I found out which cemetery he was in, I followed another link to The War Graves Photographic Project website

<http://www.twgpp.org/>

From here I put the soldiers name in the search area, and his file came up and I had the choice of a emailed photo or a real photo that would be mailed out to you. I choose the email it cost £3.50($5.60), this is a donation to support the taking of these photos.

The two photos, one of the cemetery and one of his name on the wall were sent that day, a very good service.

So I decided to research my two great uncles who were killed in World War 2, one died working on the Burma Railway and the other in a flying boat accident near Port Moresby, New Guinea.

I have thought about going to visit these cemetery but until then I have wonderful photos to add to my Family Collection.

If you would like some assistance getting some photos for your own families history, come a see me on one of our Open Days listed below and I will give you a hand using our computers

The Dublin History Group has had a busy 2012 from signing the lease on the Institute building, to holding workshops, a Paddy's Market and opening every second Sunday. As the DHG finds it way around, now having the space to finally un-box and display and utilise it's collection, we have planned a few more events of interest for 2013. But remember, on all Open Days you are welcome to come and view our files and photos, use the computers to help in your research, or just pop in for a coffee and a chat.

To let you know what is happening, we use the Dublin Dispatch, the Dublin General Store Notice Board and our own website. Also, you can now find us on Facebook. This is a quick and easy way to get information circulated. If you "Like" us on Facebook you will automatically receive updates on what we are doing— Open Days, workshops, talks , events and what we are researching at the moment. You can still email us directly

The Dublin History Group Research Centre had a great launch as a part of About Time 2012, thank you to all those who came along and those who sent their best wishes. We have arranged for local Max Jaeger of Original Signs to do a sign for us, we are working with council at the moment, our proposed sign is to the left of the article. We will start doing our workshops and opening the doors for research and study very soon

So how do you find out what is happening

1. Look for these articles in the Dublin Dispatch
2. Look at our website under the Research Tab
3. Or pop in when we are open

We still have a little fine tuning to do on the research part of centre but we will be holding our first workshop on the 29th July as part of National Family History Week. The Workshop will be hosted by Tanya Gilbert and will focus on preserving and displaying your old family photos, Tania will talk about taking care of your old photos and do a demonstration of scrapbooking with some DHG photos. This workshop will be free of charge and run from 1.30—3.30. Booking forms are available in the newsletter, on line and at the centre.

Opening Times are yet finalised as we sort out our resources but definitely Sunday afternoons are on the cards and well as during the week. Keep an eye on the website for further updates

If you would like to see any workshops or displays let us know and we will see what we can do.

Preserving your Family Photo History Workshop

As part of National Family History Week, the Dublin History Group held an open workshop on the 29th July at the Dublin History Group Research Centre about taking care of your old family photos and displaying them. Tania Gilbert hosted the Workshop which was attended by locals and city folk. She talked about old photos and how important it is to take care of them, along with ideas of how to display them. She was given some DHG photos which she scrapbooked into an album, which will be returned for the DHG to display. When choosing the photos, Tania was amazed at how much information she found out when she started researching them which has ignited her interest in going further into her family history.

Tania is also looking at running some Scrapbooking Workshops at the Centre in the near future, so if you are interested you can let us know via e-mail, workshops@dublinhistorygroup.com.au, keep an eye on our website, www.dublinhistorygroup.com.au and in the Dublin Dispatch for more information.

Lisa Mansell, Geoffrey Ralph and Laura Parsons look on as Tania talks about the album and the photos

For up to date information on what's happening at the Dublin History Group Research Centre checkout the calendar on our website for opening times and events. Everyone is welcome to see what there is to offer, to have a chat, or just a cuppa.
