12th July - Open Day

Sunday 12th April saw our lovely friends Margaret Flaiban & Peter Applebee from the ANDFHG come and join us again for a Research Afternoon. Research was varying but some interesting facts were found especially with the release of some new Boer War information, Sue Adams was delighted. Kevin Hammond continued to work on his family history trying to get through his road blocks. Geoffrey Ralph and Bev Jones worked on adding to the DHG Thompson Family Album. Barbara Kennedy assisted Andrea Brow in editing our soldiers information for our World War One display in May. We all enjoyed a yummy afternoon tea.

Family History Research Afternoon

Bergin Family Visit

The DHGRC Open Day on March 8th brought a delightful surprise in a visit from Neville Bergin and family, the Great Nephew of Walter Bergin for whom we had planted a tree for in November. They had seen the Saluting our World War 1 Soldiers Event on the internet and were excited to see their relative in the list of names. Neville had bought with him the family research on the Bergin boys and we compared and shared information. They were fascinated with the information on a knife we had found on an auction site that was carved by Walter whilst at Gallipoli and were going to try and track it down to add to the family memorabilia. When researching it is amazing what can turn up.
